

BUTLER SQUAB FARM HEAD IS OUT OF PEN ON SECRET PARDON

Kittanning, Dec. 18.—Announcement recently that A. L. Hepler, former head of the Ideal Squab Company and the Citizens Insurance Agency in which projects thousands of dollars of investors in Armstrong, Butler, Clarion and other nearby counties was lost, had been pardoned came as a great surprise both here and at Butler.

It has since been learned that Hepler was pardoned on November 8th—nearly six weeks ago—but that fact did not become definitely and publicly known until newspapers caused an inquiry to be made at Harrisburg on Saturday. Why no formal announcement of the granting of the pardon was made has not been explained.

Last week a report persisted in Butler that Hepler had been freed and an inquiry at Harrisburg at the instance of local newspapers confirmed the report. Then later it was ascertained that the pardon was issued more than a month ago but the fact seems to have been kept from the general public.

Hepler's application for a pardon was heard at the meeting of the Pardon Board on October 15th. At the time it was understood the application had been refused. However, later advices are to the effect that the matter was really held over pending an investigation and he was finally pardoned November 7th. What the investigation was about or what a disclosed is not known.

Hepler pleaded guilty in the Butler courts to fraudulent conversion and was sentenced to serve from two to four years in the penitentiary. He had served about 13 months when he was pardoned.

Flower Sermon.

Flower sermon had its origin in St. Catherine Cree, England. On Whit Monday each of the congregation carried a bunch of flowers, and a larger bunch was laid on the pulpit cushion. The custom has spread, but it has somewhat changed. Now in many churches the flower sermon is preached on Sunday and the church is decorated with flowers, the members of the congregation also bring flowers with them to the service. The time of holding this service varies in different churches, but it is usually held in the spring or early summer when there is an abundance of garden flowers.

Not Enough Real Farm Organization to Put Farming Upon an Equality

By FRANK O. LOWDEN, Former Governor of Illinois.

I AM aware that it is often said that there are too many farm organizations. That may be true, but I am sure that there is not enough real, practical, effective farm organization to put the business of farming upon an equality with other industries in this highly organized world. Farmers have the power within themselves to effect such organizations. If they can be persuaded of the necessity of organization they now can organize independently of the Department of Agriculture. If they are not so persuaded, the Department of Agriculture can help but little.

I am convinced that I can be of more service in helping to bring about the more effective organization of farmers outside the Department of Agriculture than I could in the department. For the head of the department must of necessity devote the largest part of his time to administrative routine.

It will be better not only for agriculture, but better for the country, if we face the fact and admit that there is a real problem waiting for solution more important than any other domestic problem we have. The American farmer produces more than eight times as much as does the farmer of other lands. This has largely been possible by what we call commercialized agriculture, and this in turn has made possible the phenomenal industrial growth of the country. It is clear that without commercialized agriculture the whole mighty fabric of our industrial and national life would fall.

We may assume commercialized agriculture has come to stay. Agriculture, then, must conform to the economic laws and limitations which control the other portions of our commercial structure. One of these is that production must be adjusted to compensation. Only through organization can this result be achieved, because only through organization does progress come.

In the modern world the farmer alone has been the last to realize the value of organization for its own sake. In all other industries the marketing problem has been the problem stressed for a generation, yet in the marketing of farm products the producer has been content with the methods of a century ago.

The laws of supply and demand extending over a series of years, in fixing what the political economists call the normal price, still obtain. To fix the market price fairly, that law is effective only with free competition on both sides.

Attacked by Lion.

A British railway engineer, named Fane, engaged on the construction of the new Uasin-Gishu line, was returning to the construction camp when he walked into a lair of a lioness with two cubs. Before he could fire the lioness leaped on him and severely mauled him. Then the beast fled.

Softened Hard Water.

Where the ordinary water is hard, get a barrel and fill it half full of wood ashes. Then add water to the brim. This makes lye, and a gallon of this in a large kettle of hard water will make it as soft as rain water.

Mending.

If there is a jagged tear in your umbrella, instead of trying to darn it use court plaster on the inside. This will last quite a while unless rains are too heavy, and will show less than darning.

Egotism.

Always reflect that, of course, some of the services procured for you are not so well done as you could do them.

Mother of Gallooning.
A washerwoman was the mother of gallooning and it all started in France about 1784. The washerwoman wished to dry a skirt more rapidly than could be accomplished by air and sunshine, so she rigged it up over the fireplace. The hot air soon dried the cloth and the woman was astonished to see it round out into a ball and float up to the ceiling. A neighbor named Non-coller saw the strange occurrence and it was the idea from which he got the name of Non-coller.

Most of Them Snare.
Of the 100,000,000 in the United States, 90,000,000 are snared by the 'get-rich-quick' scheme. The only way to escape is to be a celebrity; nobody ever says 'get-rich-quick' to a celebrity. The only way to escape is to be a celebrity; nobody ever says 'get-rich-quick' to a celebrity. The only way to escape is to be a celebrity; nobody ever says 'get-rich-quick' to a celebrity.

Must Learn From Experience.
Those who do not constantly review the lessons of their experiences for guidance are always puzzled when they come to the parting of the ways and are as likely to take the wrong road as the right one.

Silence Frequently Golden.
Talking is like playing on the horn; there is no such thing as being too loud on the horn. The only way to stop their vibrations is by turning them to the right one.

HOW CHINESE USE MONKEYS IN WAR

Training of the Animals Is Long and Arduous Task.

London.—The use of monkeys in warfare by the Chinese dates back to the time when the Mongolians captured Peking. The monkeys used are the "Wah-Wahs" called after the peculiar call they make when angry. They are tailless, always walk upright, and when fully grown are about 4 feet in height, says a writer in the Daily News.

The monkeys are captured when quite young and are kept in a small hut situated on a lonely plain. The training of the animals is a long and arduous task, and only such as the Chinese, with their infinite patience and utter disregard of time, would attempt.

The animal is let out of the hut at the end of a thin cord about ten feet long and made to go forward and take out of the ground a little flagstaff with a yellow flag on it. This flagstaff forms the center of three flagstaffs, the two outer flags being blue.

When the monkey brings back the yellow flag he is rewarded with food, but if he attempts to touch the blue flags, the cord is drawn tight and he is chastised. Gradually the cord is lengthened, and after years of training the monkey is capable of going distances up to two miles and bringing back his colored flag.

Other monkeys are taught to take blue flags, others red, until an army commander is in possession of several hundred monkeys distinguished by the color painted on their backs.

Every Chinese division is distinguished by colored pennants carried by bannermen, soldiers noted for their bravery. When a commander wishes to make an attack and desires to strike terror into the enemy, he selects about 20 monkeys of the enemy's color. The animals are starved for several days and kept in a position where they can see the enemy.

The night of the attack the monkeys are covered all over with luminous paint and let loose. They immediately make their way over into the enemy's lines, where their appearance and the savage way in which they bite and scratch in their efforts to capture the flags strike terror in the heart of the enemy. When the commander hears the loud "Wah-Wah" of his beasts he knows the enemy are in confusion and launches his attack.

Plant TNT in Snow to Open Drifted Highways

Loveland, Colo.—Incised in a tube of lead a ribbon of powerful TNT, known as a Cordeau fuse, is being stretched along the trail of the Hall River road, in the Rocky Mountain National park, west of Loveland.

This fuse will be buried under snow drifts 15 to 25 feet deep on both sides of Hall River pass, and in the spring drifts of snow will be blasted from the trail.

This is something new in the work of the park service. Heretofore the snow has been bucked and scraped from the mountain pass roads each spring. This has been the hardest and most expensive task the service had to handle.

The new instantaneous fuse is set off by a blasting cap, so that its entire length explodes at once. Fifty-pound boxes of 20 per cent dynamite will be placed at 20-foot intervals in one of the worst drift locations along the road. Each box will be opened and the Cordeau fuse strung between them, after which they will be sealed. This powder will be left beneath snow-drifts during the winter, and next spring a blasting cap will be inserted in the end of the fuse and the entire charge detonated at once.

The most used room

The bathroom is really the most used room in the house. It is also the most important.

With its clean, white fixtures, the modern bathroom protects health.

Contract to Produce Rain Made by Californian

Bakersfield, Cal.—"Rainmaker" Hatfield recently closed a contract with the Kern County Cattlemen's association and the sheepmen's association whereby he promised to produce 1½ inches of rain in Kern county between November 20 and December 20. If the rain is produced, Hatfield is to receive $4,000, the money being guaranteed by the cattlemen and sheepmen.

Coins of Old Wessex Kings Found in Cave

London.—A collection of Saxon coins issued during the reigns of five Wessex kings has been discovered in a cave near Peakland, Derbyshire, by Rev. G. H. Wilson. Human and animal remains found in the outer chambers of the cave indicate, according to antiquarians, the cave was formerly the dwelling place of a personage, possibly of a Mercian ruler of more than a thousand years ago.

The coins so far identified date back to the time of Cenul, a Mexican king who ruled about the year 800. Articles of personal adornment also were found.

Mr. Wilson has advanced the theory the Saxons of eastern and middle England, retreating before the victorious Danes, took shelter in the Derbyshire caves and that there many of them were slaughtered or starved.

Poultry Hints

A way to kill chicks: give them moldy feed.

There is nothing better than range for the development of vigorous fowls.

If you keep your fowls where they have any difficulty in getting all the green food of the kind they should have during the summer, plant some dwarf Essex rape handy for them. It is excellent.

Don't try to choose the place for your geese to make their nests for it only disturbs them, if you just give them a nice clean place with plenty of dry bedding, they will take care of the nesting proposition.

Clean poultry houses are essential if the comfort of the fowls and their laying capacity are to be maintained.

Pullets lay more eggs than hens through the winter and early spring and are in poorer physical condition when the spring hatches start.

The choice between brown and white leghorns must be a personal one. Both are good layers, and neither one can be said to be the best under all conditions. They are probably equally easy to raise.

Oiled Axles Stop Friction

Wheels with ordinary axles actually run on films of oil. When the axle is placed under the microscope its surface, which to the eye is smooth, really is covered with depressions and bumps. So, too, with the inside of the hub of the wheel. If the wheel were allowed to run without oil the bumps on the axle and on the hub would rub together and cause friction. This would cause the axle and hub to become heated and expand and stick.

The Order of the Bath.
No matter how humble the Japanese laborer may be, he regards his evening bath as a sacred duty and as the greatest luxury of the day. By the time the head of the family is home from his labors his wife has the tub and the water ready. In goes the little man first, then his wife, then the children in order of age. Afterwards the family, clad in clean garments, are ready for supper.

Then It Lost Its Value.
He had an infectious laugh. But he began to notice it and talk about it himself and then nobody paid any more attention to it—Selected.

Imagination Always Working.
A man does not succeed in business by the ordinary virtues catalogued by Samuel Smiles, but by the extraordinary qualities of vision and imagination; and you can't let imagination down to office hours.

Uselessness.
About the most useless worry we know is the anxiety of the bald-headed man about whether or not he looks funny to people who are topped off with hair.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Turn the Best Side Out.
The pessimist is not consistent. "Life has its sunny side," he declares, comparing life to a garment. Now he wouldn't think of wearing a garment with the sunny side out, yet he is continually presenting life in that way.—Boston Transcript.

Add Another "O"
Aim rather to be thorough with your work than merely to be thorough with it.

"Furs" Made of Silk.
Pushes, capers and imitation furs are now made of artificial silk.

Best Talker of Birddom.
Among birds that have the power of imitation the parrot is supposed to talk the best; but, as a matter of fact, its voice is decidedly inferior to that of the mynah, a species of starling, of England. Curiously enough, the cock bird speaks in a high, clear tone like that of a child, while the hen has a gruff voice.

Handel's Messiah.
Handel wrote his great oratorio, the "Messiah," in twenty-four days. He puts into music, which has been called the language of angels, the glorious story of the Gospel. "I did think, I did see all Heaven before me, and the great God Himself," he said, after writing the immortal Hallelujah Chorus.

Almost Unbelievable Fineness.
Gold lace is made by winding gilded silver wire around silk. The wire used for this purpose is drawn to such fineness that a mile and a quarter of it weighs only an ounce, while an ounce of gold covers a length of wire of more than 100 miles.

Photographs of Mars.
More than 100,000 photographs of Mars have been taken at the Lowell observatory, Flagstaff, Ariz. Numerous exposures are made on each plate with the expectation of getting the moments of best definition of the planet.

Watch Your Step.
To the inexperienced, theories look as good as facts.

Goldfish as Companions.
Goldfish swimming in a pool are good for the sick room, say some Detroit physicians, as moving objects induce patients to forget their pains, and it is said this tendency is more pronounced in the aged and very young. Canaries, it is said, share with goldfish the honor of being the chief animate entertainment to the sick.

Will He?
The next generation will be that of the eminent village. The son of the farmer will no longer be dazzled and destroyed by the fires of the metropolis. He will travel, but only for what he can bring back.—Rachel Lindsay.

Steam Truck, Coke for Fuel.
An English inventor has perfected a steam motor truck, which uses coke for fuel.

A Grievous Mistake.
At Jim Rose's boarding house is a fellow all out of humor. He does his own mending—likes to do it. Hasn't a wife to do it for him, so just does it himself. But what he's angry about is—well, he has reason for feeling a bit feverish in temperature. The other day he made the mistake of cutting a leg from his Sunday trousers to patch a pair of old ones.—Exchange.

No Time to Linger.
Bill Steadum says that when he sees an article on "Brain Cells" he hurries on just like he does when he comes to articles on "How to Invest Your Spare Dollars."—Washington News Journal.

A Barnum of Finance.
"They tell me that every minute there is a roof born into the world," said the old financier. "And," he added plausibly, "thank God, some of 'em live."—Town Topics (London).

Pike's Reach Large Size.
The pike grows to an enormous size. Even if we do not credit the old chronicler's account of a fish which was two hundred years old and weighed about five hundred weight, we have authentic records of pike of seventy pounds which have been caught in England. Several of fifty pounds have been taken during the present generation. In some foreign countries they grow to even greater sizes. In the Lake of Geneva, for instance, you may see far down in the clear water large shadowy shapes whose weight must be enormous.

Trustworthy All Through.
You can always trust the man who sees something fine about everything. When you say, "It was a cold night last night," if he chimes in, "But it is fine this morning!" and keeps it right up all day long, you are safe in stepping up and placing your pocket-book in his hands. It will be all right when you call for it.—Selected.

City's Name of Indian Origin.
Ottawa, the capital of the Dominion of Canada, takes its name from the river on which it stands. And the river bears the name of a nation of Indians belonging to the great Algonquin family. (The name is said to be derived from the Algonquin word, "adawa," to trade, to buy and sell, and was applied to this particular tribe because it was noted for its trade in corn meal, furs and tobacco.)

Wins Ring

"You'll never get me, but if you do I'll buy you a diamond ring," Dick Buttery, suspected bootlegger of Lake City, told Sheriff Ben R. Harter. "If I don't arrest you within 30 months," replied the sheriff, "I'll buy you the diamond ring." The boot won. Here he is shown with the ring.

The Beard in Dreams.
To dream you have a long beard denotes long life. If black, you will have great troubles. If red, shame and disgrace will follow you. If white, cunning and success in your undertakings. To pull or shave the beard betokens loss and disappointment. If a young lady dreams she has a beard, she will marry well. To dream you are beardless is a sign of riches. To wash the beard is an omen of sadness.

Witches in Wales.
Superstitions of the country folk of Wales are discussed in the quarterly report of Dr. Arthur Hughes, medical health officer of the county of Carmarthen-shire. Despite the fact that fortune telling and witchcraft are prohibited under the English law large numbers of the Welsh peasants bring their ailing children to the witch doctors rather than to medical practitioners.

Polyglot Legislature.
In the Swiss legislature members addressing the house may use either German, French or Italian, since educated Swiss are apt to know at least two or three languages. If requested, the interpreter must give the substance of the address made. Any motion or report is read in the two official languages, German and French.

Cement for China.
Dissolve one huge tablespoonful of gum arabic in one-quarter cupful of warm water (it must be rather thick). Put in enough plaster of paris to make a thick paste. Apply at once to broken china before the paste has time to set. In half an hour the china will be firm.

Mrs. Maybelle Fuller Douglas is one of the alleged principals in the $200,000 Chicago ticket scalping syndicate that went on the rocks. Her husband, Captain Bruce Douglas, was previously arrested by police and released on bonds. Mrs. Douglas was captured in a downtown office building.

Friday Dreams Come True.
A Friday night dream, if told to a friend on Saturday morning, is believed in many parts to be a sure sign of what is to take place.

Amber.
Amber is a fossil resin, arising from the exudation of coniferous trees. It is shown by its composition, its physical properties, by its occurring in drops and globular masses, which resemble the resin seen exuding from the bark of pine trees, and by its common association with fossil woods. It is of a clear brownish-yellow color varying in shade, and is often streaked with irregular streaks. It is usually transparent and brittle, and is readily, giving off dense fumes.

Got "Fool's Gold."
Sir Martin Froisher, the English navigator, although a gallant sailor, was no judge of gold. He was sent on two expeditions. In 1577 and 1578, to find gold, and on each occasion brought back worthless ore.

Turk Hats of Greek.
In order to remove all vestiges of Greek domination of Constantinople, the Turks intend changing the name of the historic mosque of St. Sophie to Mohammed mosque, that is, the Mosque of Mahomet.

Proper Plan of Packing Will Prevent Breakage

Careful packing prevents breakage in market eggs. The poultry department of the New Jersey experiment station recommends this plan of packing. First, place an excelsior pad in the bottom of each compartment of the crate. Directly upon this pad place a filler and fill with eggs as usual, packing the eggs snug and down. If no flat is placed over the pads, the eggs will beat themselves in the excelsior and ride safely. Three layers should be packed as usual, alternating flat and filler, with an excelsior pad instead of a flat on top of the third layer. Continue to fill the crate, using filler, flat, and filler. On the top use an excelsior pad with no flat.

Pullets in Quarters

The reason some pullets are late in laying in the fall is because they get started wrong in their winter quarters. Pullets should be established in their winter quarters before the egg organs are developed; otherwise a change of home disturbs them and interrupts the egg yield.

Separate Late Molters

Late molting hens should be separated from the pullets about ready to lay. These hens have performed well and now need plenty of fattening feed to build them up ready for early spring laying. Eggs from these hens will be valuable for hatching and should be reserved for that purpose.

Sell Old Hens Early

Pullets make the most profitable layers. Hens are always a good price if sold just before the breeding season is over, but they drop fast when farmers are selling their stock after they drop down in production. Eggs at this season are low in price, and it will pay to sell two or three weeks before they stop laying, rather than risk a sudden slump in price. Feed heavily of corn for a week or ten days before you sell, and keep off free range.

Poultrymen Disagree on Merits of Drawn Fowls

Poultrymen still discuss the relative merits of drawn or undrawn poultry. The practice varies in different communities. Opening the body undoubtedly exposes to the air the internal surface, and thus decomposition is hastened. On the other hand, the viscera decompose more rapidly than other parts of the body, and if left in the bird they may taint or infect the rest of the flesh.

In the long series of experiments conducted by the United States Department of Agriculture it was found that undrawn birds spoil the least quickly and that the fully drawn ones from which not only the viscera but the head and feet have been removed, spoil more quickly than the partly drawn ones.

Housing Different Hens

Too often we find hens of all sizes and ages being housed together in one pen, all getting the same feed and same treatment and each expected to do as well in egg production as the other. This method of housing the different hens should not be resorted to, as such methods will not bring in the best returns.

Poultry Hints

A flock of standard bred Barred Plymouth Rocks round out a well-balanced farm program.

There are undoubtedly more chicks lost each season through overfeeding and killing than through any other one cause.

The number of eggs a hen will lay per month depends on her capacity to digest food. Do not breed from birds with pinched backs, little depth in rear and which lack fullness in the abdomen.

Ducks can be profitably bred for four years. Geese can be bred for many years—for a period that seems incredible.

Writer Practised Economy

Boyer's celebrated translation of Homer (presented in the British Museum) is written almost entirely on the covers or wrappers of letters, as the envelopes were first called. There are also preserved in the British Museum, attached to the letters, the envelopes which were used in 1755 and 1760 for the transmission of two important government documents.—Ex-says.

Helen's Promise

Helen had been brought up a strict Congregationalist. Last summer she had heard of the excellent preaching of an Episcopal minister and she begged that she and her sister be permitted to go and hear him. Her father demurred; whereupon Helen burst forth with: "Oh, papa, if you will only let us go and hear him preach we'll promise not to believe a word he says."

Fattening Cull Hens Is Good Improvement Plan

Many a bird of cull hens could be improved by a short fattening period before they are taken to market, says L. E. Carl of the University of Illinois. Though gains to be made are considerably less than is possible with broilers, the improvement is still sufficient to more than pay for its cost. A simple mixture of two-thirds cornmeal and one-third wheat middlings mixed with enough skim milk or butter-milk to form a thick batter will give good results. This should be fed to the hens twice daily giving only what they will clean up in 20 or 30 minutes. No water should be given except as it forms a part of the milk used in mixing the soft feed. This makes it highly important that the birds be kept in a place that is cool and comfortable.

When Leaves Fall. Below each side bud on the hickory twig is a triangular scar marked with heavy dots, says Nature Magazine. Last year's leaves left these scars when they fell. They were careful enough, however, to let the wound before they fell, otherwise the tree would suffer from the loss of sap as you would from a loss of blood when wounded.

Gossip for Tonight's Tea Table

Jacob Moyer of Drifting spent this week in Clearfield as a juror.

Patrick F. O'Farrell was a business visitor from Osceola Mills.

Julia and Bertha Keir arrived today from Mary Lyon school, Swarthmore.

Helen Broom, Beatrice McDowell, Rebecca Ferguson, and Margaret Jane Overly came home today from Indiana Normal.

Miss Nancy Miller will spend Christmas vacation in Pittsburgh.

Mr. and Mrs. Cleon V. Steele are going to South Bend, Ind., where they will spend Christmas with the parents of Mrs. Steele.

Miss Margaret Hancy of Pittsburgh is a guest of Mrs. McLarren on Ogden avenue.

Pleasant Japanese Custom.

As we left Matsue, Japan, by steamer, an agriculturist on board the vessel told me of the custom of giving holidays to oxen and horses. The villagers carefully brush their animals, decorate them, and lead them to pasture, where, tethered to rings attached to a long rope, "they may graze together pleasantly."—J. W. Robertson Scott, in London Daily Telegraph.

The Piano's Revenge.

The concert was an immense success. Everybody worked hard; there was something for every willing hand, even if only to fetch chairs; but our special thanks are due to the vicar's daughter, who labored at the piano, which as usual fell upon her.—From a Provincial English paper in Punch, London.

Bread Well Preserved

A loaf of bread said to have been baked in 560 B. C. by an Assyrian housewife or baker has been discovered by a French explorer. The loaf was in excellent condition when found wrapped in a cloth and sealed tightly in a sarcophagus.

Too Bad.

Lieut. Peterson Gyllenstam has married a lady through an advertisement. The day after the marriage he says: "I ask whether you have the 20,000 kroner mentioned in the advertisement?" "No, not now; I spent it all on advertising."—Kasper, Stockholm.

STORING VITAMINS

The average healthy person stores up within the body several days' supply of essential vitamins. This explains why a well-nourished person of any age is less susceptible to germ-infection than those who are malnourished.

Scott's Emulsion
